

The New Rockwells Announce New Album Old Familiar Way

Boston, MA and New York, NY

Folk-rock duo The New Rockwells announced the release of their forthcoming studio album Old Familiar Way today. This album follows the release of the band's 2016 debut Live From Carnegie Hall. The 8 tracks comprising this new album represent an evolution of the band's sound - incorporating electric and rock elements, as well as rich orchestration, to the good time folk-rock sound that fans have come to know and love. Through ballads and rockers alike, the band explores themes of longing, nostalgia, consequence, and elation.

"We're always seeking to capture the energy of our live performances when we're in the studio, and with this release I think we've accomplished that," says Marty Boyle, the band's guitarist and singer. Boyle also notes that bringing in a horn section and strings and embracing overdubs allowed for a liberating creative process and a satisfying final product that highlights their hooky melodies and meaningful lyrics. "We left the constraints of 'play it only like we can live' at the door and allowed the full force of our creative intuition to take control."

"This album is a labor of love and collaboration," notes Ben Muller, the duo's keyboardist, saxophonist, and singer. "Marty and I co-wrote every song and devised much fuller and varied arrangements than we've had in the past. This is the new The New Rockwells."

Old Familiar Way will be released on all platforms on October 5, 2018 and is available for preview exclusively for media outlets. The band is actively seeking album reviews concurrent with the release of the album and is entertaining offers for exclusive web hosting of an album preview prior to the release date.

The New Rockwells can be reached for all inquiries at thenewrockwells@gmail.com

About The New Rockwells

The New Rockwells is the lovechild of folk-rocker Marty Boyle and jazzman Ben Muller. This barnstorming duo performs a style of rock all their own - a blending of folk, classic rock, blues, and jazz. Drawing on influences from Billy Joel and Simon & Garfunkel to Steve Goodman and Jim Croce, TNR's feel-good music has an old-school vibe with a groovy modern twist. The New Rockwells are based in Boston, MA and New York City. The New Rockwells are an ASCAP registered artist.

More information on The New Rockwells including upcoming tour dates can be found at thenewrockwells.com